

You are a new scholar in the House of Wisdom. Before you can start translating important books of knowledge from around the world, your first task is to finish connecting the definition pairs in the partly completed work of past scholars.

